Les Giblin's career spanned several decades during which he authored influential books and conducted seminars on personal development. His most notable works include:

- How to Have Confidence and Power in Dealing with People (1959)
- The Nature of Power and the Psychology of Human Relationships (1971)

His teachings emphasized that success in personal and professional life hinges on understanding and respecting human nature, and that influence is rooted in genuine, empathetic communication rather than manipulation.

One of Giblin's foundational principles is that effective communication begins with active listening. He believed that:

Key techniques include:

- Maintaining eye contact
- Avoiding interruptions
- Reflecting and paraphrasing what others say

The Importance of Sincerity and Authenticity

Giblin stressed that influence is rooted in sincerity. People are adept at sensing insincerity, which undermines trust. Authenticity involves:

Giblin often highlighted that most disagreements and misunderstandings stem from a lack of genuine listening. His recommended approach involves:

- Focusing entirely on what the other person is saying

- Demonstrating understanding through verbal and non-verbal cues

The Power of Words

Language shapes perception and influence. Gibling emphasized:

- Framing requests in a way that appeals to shared interests

Building Empathy

Empathy, for Gibling, was the bridge to trust. Techniques include:

- Putting yourself in the other person's shoes
- Validating their feelings without immediate judgment
- Showing understanding even when you disagree
